

Best out of waste Activity

28-7-2023

The Institute of Vocational Studies, under the permission of Principal Dr. Mandira Gupta, conducted a stone painting and pen stand making activity on the theme 'Best out of Waste' under Sustainability/Lifestyle for Environment (LIFE). The event was guided by Ms. Sangeeta Kaushik and saw enthusiastic participation from the students of D.El.Ed. The objective of the activity was to promote sustainability and environmental awareness by repurposing waste materials. During the event, students showcased their creativity by transforming discarded stones into decorative pieces and crafting pen holders from recycled materials, emphasizing the significance of waste reduction and recycling. The activity successfully instilled an environmentally conscious mindset among the students, educating them about sustainable practices and fostering collaboration. The Institute extends its appreciation to the Principal and the faculty for their valuable guidance and reaffirms its commitment to organizing such initiatives to nurture responsible citizens dedicated to preserving the planet. The students enthusiastically dove into the activity, showcasing remarkable creativity and a contagious sense of fun. Their dedication and ingenuity in crafting a diverse range of artistic and functional items from waste materials were truly commendable, making the event an enjoyable celebration of sustainability.
